

WHITEHEAD IS NOW MENTIONED

Resignation Of John Barnes From Railroad Commission Is Officially Announced.

MANY MENTIONED AS SUCCESSORS

Janesville Man Is Among Those Suggested As Possibilities For Post Just Made Vacant—Two Cent Law To Blame.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., July 19.—Gov. Davidson, on his return from Camp Douglas today, announced that John Barnes had resigned from the railroad commission. L. M. Sundevant, R. M. Bashford, F. W. Hall, George B. Hudson and John M. Whitehead are among those mentioned as possible successors.

The commission after a year of investigation, decided that Wisconsin passenger business would not pay if a two-cent rate were ordered, and an order for a maximum rate of two and one-half cents a mile was promulgated. The legislature, notwithstanding, passed a two-cent rate law. Governor Davidson signed it, and Barnes soured and quit. The place pays $5,000 a year, but Barnes is rich, being interested in all the money-making enterprises of northern Wisconsin. The

SENATOR WHITEHEAD HAS A REPUTATION

Was Known to the Clerks of the Legislature as Most Particular as to Details.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., July 19.—Senator John M. Whitehead made a reputation among the employees of the legislature which throws a sidelight upon his character. Among the stenographers and custodians of the document room he was known as the most exacting member of the senate, the one who most carefully watched every detail of legislation. Stenographers tell how he would require them to write a bill or resolution four or five times before he had it finally completed to his satisfaction. Each draft would be changed and brought nearer to perfection until it finally was satisfactory. The pages and document clerks learned early in the session that it was not possible to neglect the files of the senator from the Rock county district, for if a printed amendment, ever so slight or unimportant was not placed upon his files, the omission was certain to be noticed and a suggestion or reprimand would come from the sergeant-at-arms. The documentary record of the past legislative session carried home by Senator Whitehead is probably the most complete in existence, for during the rush and hurry days toward the end of the session the files of less painstaking members sometimes were missed and the cunning pages learned that some members did not protest when they were not supplied with the printed matter which the rules direct to be placed on their desks each day. In the class of punctilious senators, although not so extremely careful as Senator Whitehead, are Senators Hudson of Superior, Wilcox of Appleton, and Roehr of Milwaukee.

First Time in History That National Meeting Has Not Been Held in East.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., July 19.—Beginning today and continuing through the whole of next week Chicago will be the center of interest for polo players throughout the country. The occasion is the national championship tournament, which opened auspiciously today on the grounds of the Oakwauke Club. It is the first time in the history of the national organization that the championship, including the junior event, has been held in the west. The Meadowbrook, Rockaway and several other eastern clubs have sent teams, though, on the whole, the east is not so well represented numerically as had been hoped for. This is made up, however, by the larger representations of the middle west. Among the entrants are two polo teams from Fort Riley, Kas., it being the first time in the history of polo in this country that the United States Army has been represented in the national championship tournament. One army team is entered for the junior championship and the other for the real championship itself, the winning club holding the William Waldorf Astor gold cup for the ensuing year.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT GREATLY CHANGED

It is Now Thought That Dr. Rowland And Bride Will Probably Escape Conviction on Murder Charge.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Raleigh, N. C., July 19.—Despite a strong chain of circumstantial evidence the opinion is gaining ground that the state will find it a matter of greatest difficulty to secure the conviction of Dr. David S. Rowland and his bride, who are accused of having murdered Mrs. Rowland's first husband, last April, by poison or other foul means. The case has attracted widespread attention, due in part to the prominence of Dr. Rowland, who was a leading physician with a large practice in this city. His bride, whom he married six weeks after the death of her first husband, was formerly Mrs. Lillian Strange, of Omaha, Neb. She is a woman of both handsome and intellectual countenance. The circumstantial evidence adduced at the preliminary investigation tended to show that an improper relationship had existed between Dr. Rowland and Mrs. Strange for some time before the man's death. While this is regarded by the prosecution as one of the strong links in the chain of circumstantial evidence, together with the marriage of the accused within six weeks after the death of Mr. Strange, the counsel for the defense, on the other hand, declare that the early marriage was in reality the act of a man disposed to do the honorable thing to protect the good name of an innocent woman.

WHAT JAPAN REPRESENTS TO THE WORLD OF PEOPLE

Some Information About The Little Islanders That May Be Of Interest To The Readers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Tokio, July 19.—While there is some talk of trouble with the United States the Japanese at present are keeping their eyes very closely glued on Korea and the crisis which arrived in that country. For the benefit of those who desire to have a digest of the Japanese islands and the Japanese people in a nutshell the following is culled from different sources:

Japan has about the same area as Montana, with more than half as many people as there are in the whole United States.

Japan has every kind of manufacturing—cotton goods, telescopes, microscopes, watches, knives, spoons, electric machinery, matches, clocks, woolen goods and a host of other lines.

Japan has railroads gridironing the empire, electric lights in all the large cities, and telegraph lines all over the country.

Japan was thrown open to the world in 1854, through the efforts of Commodore Perry of the United States navy.

The nation has in its historic archives the histories of 130 rulers, of whom ten were females.

Historians of the empire declare that the present ruler is the representative of a dynasty that has existed for 2,500 years.

The monetary unit is the gold yen, whose nominal value approximates the weight and value of an American dollar.

Japan has gold, silver, copper, lead, tin and mercury in abundance, besides coal and iron.

Japan raises sufficient agricultural products to feed her own people and leaves a good quantity for export.

Japan did not have a single battleship in 1895, while now she has a score of battleships of the first class.

Tokio, the capital and largest city of the empire, has a population of nearly 2,000,000. Osaka is the next largest city, with a population of about 1,000,000.

The Constitution of Japan secures absolute freedom of religious belief and practice, as long as it is not prejudicial to peace and order.

The principal ports of Japan lie at the heads of gulfs, the channels leading to which are nearly all well fortified.

The army of the empire is organized on a uniform system on the basis of conscription. The Emperor has the supreme command of the army and navy.

The strength of the Japanese army on a war footing is estimated at 40,000 officers and 1,125,300 non-commissioned officers and men.

The Constitution, which governs Japan at present was adopted February 11, 1889. The supreme power belongs to the chief of the dynasty, Emperor Mutsu-Hito, who was born November 3, 1852, and ascended the throne February 13, 1867. His eldest son, Prince Yoshi Hito Harunomiga, is the heir-apparent.

Government is vested, according to the Constitution, in a house of peers and a chamber of representatives. The house of peers is composed of the male members of the imperial family who have attained their majority; all princes and marquises who are above twenty-five years of age; counts, viscounts and barons of the empire, elected by their peers for a term of seven years; members nominated for life by the Emperor, and, finally, fifteen members elected by the taxpayers, and confirmed by the Emperor, in their power for seven years.

Electors—300 members of the chamber of representatives—are restricted to males at least twenty-five years of age and paying at least $15 a year in taxes. No one is eligible who has not paid his district poll tax for at least one year.

Executive power is exercised, by delegation of the Emperor and under his high direction, by the ministers of the interior, of justice, of finance, of war, of communications, of foreign affairs, of public instruction, and of agriculture and commerce. Vice-ministers, similar to assistant secretaries, assist the ministers in transacting business.

Besides the cabinet of ministers, a private cabinet may be summoned and consulted by the Emperor, composed of a president and a vice-president of the ministers, and of seventeen councillors.

Both houses of parliament may respectively initiate projects of law, can make representations to the Government as to laws or upon any other subject, and may present addresses to the Emperor.

VETERAN PROGRAM MAN RUNS AMUCK

Madison Paper Tells of Clinton Junction Resident's Queer Actions in Dane County.

Arthur Fredendall of Clinton Junction, the veteran program man of the western racing circuit, who was recently taken in custody out in Iowa as the result of peculiar actions and brought home by relatives, ran amuck in Dane county early this week. Concerning his action a Madison paper prints the following: "Posing as an expert tobacco buyer, Arthur Fredendall of Clinton Junction, an insane man, hired a livery rig in Madison Tuesday, and after driving the horse nearly to exhaustion and cruelly beating him came back to Madison and was captured."

"Fredendall came to Madison Tuesday and hired a rig from E. S. Burwell, saying he wanted to go to Frank Malone's farm near the cemetery. He started at 7 a. m. and told the liveryman he would be back at 10 o'clock. The morning passed and no rig showed up. The afternoon went likewise and at 5 o'clock Mr. Burwell began to be concerned and decided to inform the police department. Chief Shaughnessy then telephoned to Malone, who told him no man had been at his place that day. At 6 o'clock a man at Gill's livery reported he had seen Fredendall driving Burwell's horse in the vicinity of McFarland. The man was crazily drunk and was using the horse in an abusive manner. The chief then telephoned to McFarland but without results. Then he communicated with the Oregon authorities. The marshal there had heard of the man driving a horse on the road near McFarland and gave the chief such further information as he had."

"Then the chief called up William Keenan, a farmer in the vicinity. The latter said that a man answering to Fredendall's description had called three times that day at his place and had then left in the direction of McFarland. Late in the evening Fredendall showed up in Madison and Andrew Brown of Brown Bros. livery telephoned Mr. Burwell that the man had been at their place and had continued on to the Laaw stables. Then with Captain Davenport, Mr. Burwell went to the Laaw stables and recovered the horse. Fredendall was taken to the police station where he was held until last evening, when an officer from Clinton Junction came and took him back home."

"Fredendall approached tobacco growers in the vicinity of McFarland and offered fabulous sums for their crop. With the greatest seriousness he told one farmer that if he would hold his crop another month he would buy it all for 25 cents a pound, and his actions all along his right of way were strongly indicative of a disordered mind. Fredendall has a wife and family at Clinton Junction."

Committed to Mendota.

Relatives, who were summoned to take Fredendall home, were unable to control the man and last evening Sheriff Fisher was called to Madison. Fredendall's ravings were so violent

CLOSING RULES.

The Gazette desires to thoroughly explain the manner of the final closing of the diamond, watch and trip contest, which ends at 8 o'clock p. m. Monday, July 22.

The issue of the Daily Gazette of July 20th will contain the standing of all candidates at 6 o'clock Friday evening, July 19th. Every candidate has the privilege of examining their own ballots to see that the published statement of their standing on that date is correct.

No further statement of the standing of any candidate will be given until the judges announce their decision. That everything may be open and above board at the close, the Daily Gazette requests that all contestants on Monday, July 22nd, place their subscription books, votes and certificates, also money for all unpaid subscriptions that have been entered in their subscription books in sealed packages and deposit them in the ballot box, which will be opened by the judges at the final counting place. Arrangements have been made to give the judges all assistance possible in making up the final count, there will be a disinterested operator, of an adding machine, which insures absolute accuracy. This gives all an equal chance, which we think will meet the approval of everyone.

The above arrangements should enable the judges to count the votes very quickly, and a decision may be rendered by 10:30 or 11:00 o'clock. If every candidate will follow these instructions no criticism will follow regarding the outcome, for no one will know what votes the different candidates have for the final count.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, July 19, 1867.—Personal.—Hon. H. L. Palmer was in the city today attending court.

Circuit Court.—In the case of Douglas vs. Ryan, for assault and battery, the jury returned a verdict of $60. Case of Plato vs. Canary is now in progress.

The Third Ward Election.—Up to the hour of going to press the vote in the Third ward for alderman had reached 120, about equally divided between Messrs. Miner and Skinner.

Prolific.—A branch of the cherry current left with us by R. M. Wheeler shows a wonderful productivity. S. H. Kemmerer exhibited to us a branch of gooseberry bush which literally hung full.

What's the Matter.—People who have given attention to apple trees notice that the ends of the branches are dead and dying. Upon examination a small worm penetrates the wood to the pith, thereby entirely destroying the life of the wood beyond the wound.

Fire Apparatus Purchased.—After considerable discussion pro and con, the common council has at last settled down in something definite in regard to fire apparatus and has purchased it. It consists of a handsome hat for the chief engineer, at an expense of $20. This article came cheaper than a steamer, and was not quite so expensive as a reservoir, and it seems to have been deemed ample protection against fire. It has been received but when it is to be tested we have not been advised.

Barnum & Bailey Circus.
The reported engagement of the Barnum & Bailey Circus has been confirmed, and the big show, it is announced, will exhibit here August 8. Special interest attaches to the Barnum & Bailey show-day this year, not only because of the popular belief that it is the largest combined circus, menagerie and hippodrome in the world, but also because the management announces a number of features of such an extraordinary character as to discount anything hitherto known in the line of arctic sensationalism.

Probably the most remarkable of the new acts is the thrilling feat of Capt. Carl Howelsen, who sails 75 feet through the air mounted on 3-foot gleees. Another startling act, which has created comment and wonder, is known as the "Dip of Death." In this startling act a heavy road car flies forty feet through space, with machine and driver actually upside down. Then, as though these thrillers were not sufficient to satisfy the public demand for sensationalism, two daring bicyclists tempt injury and possible death by turning somersaults in mid-air on their wheels. This sensational act is descriptively entitled the "Two Twirls of Terror," and is said to create a future wherever it is seen.

Apart from its sensational features, the Barnum & Bailey program seems to have a sufficient variety of genuine old-fashioned circus acts to satisfy the most exacting lover of real arctic entertainment. Interspersed with these, it is announced, are a number of acts that, while not especially sensational, are especially interesting and attractive by reason of their originality and novelty.

The foreign agents of the Barnum & Bailey show were, it is said, notably successful last winter in securing unconventional and skillful acts for the current season.

The performance opens with a gorgeous spectacle entitled "Peace." It is founded upon the Russo-Japanese war, and describes, in an allegorical way, the President's successful efforts to bring about peace between the warring armies in the east. The circus performance follows. There are three rings, two stages, a quarter-mile hippodrome track and a series of immense aerial spaces, and all are utilized by the 300 European and American artists in the circus company. The big sensational features are interspersed throughout the arctic program. The comedy element is provided by what is said to be the merriest lot of clowns ever seen with a circus. The hippodrome races are rendered especially interesting and exciting by the introduction of thoroughbred racers and jockeys and characters of established reputation.

The zoological display, which forms a vestibule for the main exhibition, is declared to be especially notable this year from the fact that it serves to display a remarkable herd of giraffes, the only horned rhinoceros in the United States, and many other rare animals, together with three herds of trained elephants, and hundreds of other interesting wild beasts.

Van Camp's PORK AND BEANS

The Mouth-Watering Memory in the Childish Mind.

When the children get hungry and try to think of something extra good which they would like to have, then comes the pungent recollection of the last time, mother had Van Camp's Pork and Beans with Tomato Sauce for dinner.

It's a memory that makes their little mouths fairly water.

For what is so good to the childish taste as a steaming hot dish of Van Camp's, with its savory odor and all its appetizing deliciousness?

And what is so nourishing to the childish body as the nutritious, healthful, vitalizing Van Camp beans cooked in the Van Camp way?

The children know what's good! How they revel in the appetizing goodness of the nutty-flavored Van Camp beans—in the piquant tang of the delicious Van Camp Tomato Sauce, made from vine-ripened Tomatoes fresh from the garden!

Don't ever disappoint the children by having to tell them that you are "out of Van Camp's." Always keep a supply on hand—a dozen cans at least. And be sure you order and

JOHN BARNES RESIGNS

John Barnes, member of the railroad commission which established the two-and-a-half-cent rate for Wisconsin railroads, has resigned. His withdrawal from the commission of which he was the business head, has caused more than comment. It may mean a crucial point in the Davidson-Connor wing of the Republican party and it may mean that a good strong man will be placed on the commission which will help the administration to weather the storm which hangs over their head. Mr. Barnes' resignation can be directly traced to the passage of the two-cent rate bill. For months the commission labored with the rate problem and then decided that two and a half cents was the proper schedule. Barely had it gone into effect when talk of a two-cent law was prevalent. Then because some friend of a legislator tried to check his trunk through to Minneapolis and demanded the two-and-a-half-cent rate on interstate travel and was refused the great indignity to the people of the state was avenged and a straight two-cent rate measure passed, was signed by the Governor and became a law. Mr. Barnes' resignation is to be generally deplored. He had labored long and successfully to give the state and the railroads a square deal and the passage of the two-cent law and the reasons assigned for its passage were more than any self-respecting man could swallow with dignity. Mr. Barnes has resigned. The present administration has reached a crucial point in its affairs. If a good strong man is placed on the commission it may mean much; if the choice is not so fortunate then the end of the Davidson-Connor faction can be read easily. Connor has lost his popularity and when the opportunity of cementing the two elements of the party into one union offered he failed signally. Davidson's appointment will be watched with interest.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE

The attempt to murder the President of the French republic, we are told, was made by a person of weak and perhaps slightly deranged mind, who had been wrought upon by the intemperate utterances of a part of the press and of socialist and anti-militarist agitators. That is not only possible, but also quite probable. It is a not incongruous sequel to the venomous campaign which the General Federation of Labor has been waging in its effort to "unionize" all the state employees of France and then paralyze the government with a universal strike. It is perhaps more agreeable to accept that explanation of the abominable incident than to attribute it to the machinations of a murderous conspiracy.

But even under that explanation the incident is not to be regarded as insignificant, as our own sad experience shows. We have had in this country a much loved President not only fired at but actually killed by a wretch whose mind, perhaps naturally weak or warped, had been perverted and incited to the deed by the utterances of a licentious press and of socialist and anarchist agitators. Fallieres was more fortunate than McKinley. That was the chief difference between the cases. They both involved the same abhorrent passions and practices. They both point the same lesson, of the evil results which may proceed from wicked or merely rec-less suggestions, even beyond their makers' intent.

It is safe to say that the men who are named as delegates to the National Republican convention next year will have to spend a few dollars for the honor.

Those Elks who dropped out of line owing to the heat in Philadelphia Thursday realized what it cost to be one of the "Best People On Earth."

It will be months before the state settles down to an understanding what was accomplished at Madison.

Japan is quite sure that the Korean Emperor's resignation is all for the good of Korea.

King Oscar wants the Swedish-Americans to come back home. Not for a Home-Coming, but to stay.

Supposing Europe does not take a kindly interest in the theatre trust, then what?

What a business an interurban to the lake regions would do these hot afternoons?

It is a good sign if Colorado is looking for an antidote for its mean politics.

What does Connor want anyway? To be United States Senator or what?

Despite the hot weather the Haywood trial continues to drag along.

AUGUST W. BAUMANN CLAIMED BY DEATH

Long Suffering of Pioneer Resident, Veteran Businessman and Fire Steamer Engineer—Ends.

Death, coming at 7:50 o'clock last evening at his home on Mineral Point avenue, ended the long suffering of August W. Baumann, one of the best known and generally esteemed residents of Janesville. Some years ago the deceased became afflicted with cancer and the best of surgical attendance and hospital treatment brought only temporary relief. For many months he had been confined to his home. Mr. Baumann was born in Germany, August 14, 1849, and at the age of seven came to America with his parents. They located at Watertown and Mr. Baumann removed to Janesville when sixteen years old. Since then this city had been his home and he was numbered among the most loyal citizens. In business life he was a veteran, being located for years both on River street and on the Corn Exchange. He was one of the oldest men in the fire department and long held the office of steamer engineer. When the old Concordia society was in its prime he was among the most prominent members and had long been affiliated with local lodge Knights of Pythias. Mr. Baumann's death will cause general sorrow in the community and great loss to his family. He is survived by a wife and four children—Mrs. Charles Seidmore of this city, Mrs. Edward Horn of Evansville and W. J. Baumann and August Baumann, Jr., of Janesville. Two brothers are also left, Herman Baumann of Johnson Creek and Fred Baumann of this city. The funeral will be held Sunday.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Footnote Announcement: Rev. Mr. Bennett, who was to preach at the Christian church next Sunday, has sent word that he will not be here, so there will be no preaching at that time.

Extinguisher Paid for Self: By smoke coming into Holme's store a small blaze in a "lean-to" at the rear of the Golden Eagle clothing store was discovered at half-past five o'clock last evening. While a clerk got busy with a fire extinguisher the fire department was called by phone. The flames were subdued by the extinguisher and the last vestige of the fire driven away by chemicals from the fire patrol. The origin of the blaze is a mystery as it is denied that anyone had been careless with matches.

Will Build $3,200 Home: Mrs. Florence McKewen will this summer erect a $3,200 home on Ruger avenue. Plans have been prepared and the contract has been awarded to Fred Roessling.

Five Years at Waupun: Sheriff Fisher will take James Quinn, Jr., of Beloit to the state penitentiary at Waupun tomorrow. Quinn was convicted of highway robbery at Beloit and has been sentenced for five years. Goodbye Meeting: Capt. Sparrow and family will have their farewell meeting in their hall on Milwaukee street Sunday night. They will soon leave for the new field of labor in Davenport, Iowa. Invoxy Blackley will take up the work in this city. No meeting on Saturday night.

Ball Games Tomorrow: At Athletic park the Y. M. C. A. and Barb Wire works teams will play at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the Janesville Machine company and Parker Pen company nines at 3:45. At the fair grounds at 2:30 the Lewis Knitting Company Browns and Machinists will cross bats.

WILLIAM HEISE IS DEAD IN MILWAUKEE

Pioneer Resident of Janesville Passed Away in Post-Graduate Hospital This Morning.

William Heise, a resident of Janesville for more than forty years, passed away in the Post-Graduate hospital at Milwaukee this morning. For years he had been a victim of stomach trouble and of late had suffered much. Several weeks ago he went to Milwaukee and two weeks ago entered the hospital. An operation on Thursday of last week brought temporary relief and it was thought recovery was possible. His sister, Mrs. Edward Poenichen, went to Milwaukee this morning expecting to visit him, but arrived too late to see him alive. Mrs. Heise and Mrs. Poenichen will bring the remains here this evening. Mr. Heise was born in the Province of Leihen, Germany, April 20, 1841, and came to America in 1866. His Atlantic trip was made on a sailing vessel and from the coast he went to Chicago. After remaining there but a month he removed to Janesville and since then made this city his home. By trade he was a freemason and the interior work in the circuit court room of the courthouse and the institute for the blind are monuments to his ability. For a time he was also foreman of the paint shop of the Janesville Machine company. Later he engaged in business by himself. The last ten years he led a quiet, retired life. Mr. Heise was known widely in Janesville and this part of Rock county as an agreeable, pleasant man. He had traveled much, having twice returned to Europe, on one occasion making a tour of the continent, and having visited throughout the west and east in the United States.

Surviving the deceased are a wife, Mrs. Heise of 154 Lincoln street; a step-son, Hugo Schleiwinsky of Milwaukee, and two sisters, Mrs. Poenichen of this city and Mrs. William Wolters of Hammond, Ind.

PHILO S. FENTON CALLED BY DEATH

FOR MANY YEARS A RESIDENT OF JANESVILLE.

PASSED AWAY LAST EVENING

Was a Veteran of the Civil War—Has Held Important City Offices—Funeral on Saturday.

Philo S. Fenton, for many years a resident of this city, died at his home, 125 Madison street, last night at 11 o'clock. Although he had been an invalid and practically confined to his home for a number of years as a result of complications due to injuries received in the Civil war, his final illness was but of three days' duration. His entire family was at his bedside when he died.

Mr. Fenton had been failing steadily for some time, feeling the hot weather seriously. On Tuesday afternoon he suffered a slight apoplectic stroke. He became semi-unconscious Wednesday afternoon and remained in that condition until he breathed his last, "rallying" when members of the family spoke to him and giving signs of recognition until the last, although unable to speak.

Before failing health forced him to retire from active life, Mr. Fenton was prominent in business, political, and fraternal society circles. He was at one time city clerk and had also served as city assessor. He had lived in Janesville since the expiration of a few years, since his marriage with Miss Rose S. Alden, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Madison Alden, pioneer residents of Janesville, the wedding having taken place Dec. 26, 1871.

While a member of several lodges and societies, Mr. Fenton's deepest loyalty was given to W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, Grand Army of the Republic, the sacrifice of his right arm in the defense of the union having given him an undying affection for "the boys," and for the flag for whose preservation, unsullied, they fought shoulder to shoulder. He had served the local post in several official capacities and was at one time senior vice commander of the Department of Wisconsin G. A. R. The army "campfires" were a great pleasure to him while he was able to attend and in his later years he found comfort in the frequent visits of his old "comrades" and their recollections of the war. He enlisted Aug. 2, 1862, as a private in Co. C, 116th Illinois infantry, at Decatur, Ill., and served until he fell wounded at New Hope church, Ga., June 3, 1864, while engaged with Gen. Sherman on his march to the sea. Previous to that he had served with the Fifteenth Army corps in Tennessee, was under Gen. Grant at the siege of Vicksburg and participated in a number of the important and bloody battles of the war. After the amputation of his arm, he was sent home under a general order from Gen. Sherman and was mustered out with his regiment, July 11, 1865.

Foreigners Get in Shooting Scrape at Mineral Point Last Night.

Two hits out of six shots was the record of an Italian who emptied a six-shooter on a brother foreigner at Mineral Point at 11 o'clock last night. The man attempting to commit murder skipped three minutes after he had done the shooting and posses of men started after him. The country in the neighborhood of Mineral Point is being searched by undersheriffs. The cause of the altercation is said to have been too much of the "dago red" which the Italians are accustomed to drinking. The trouble occurred in the lower part of the city where the employees of the zinc works live.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNELOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"No, sir," was the respectful answer. "Mr. Ryder has gone out driving, but Mr. Bagley is upstairs." Then after a brief pause he added, "Mrs. Ryder is in too."

Jefferson went up the grand staircase hung on either side with fine old portraits and rare tapestries, his feet sinking deep in the rich velvet carpet. On the first landing was a piece of sculptured marble of inestimable value, seen in the soft warm light that sifted through a great pictorial stained glass window overhead, the subject representing Ajax and Ulysses contending for the armor of Achilles. To the left of this, at the top of another flight leading to the library, was hung a fine full length portrait of John Burdett Ryder. The ceilings here as in the lower hall were richly gilt and adorned with paintings by famous modern artists. When he reached this floor Jefferson was about to turn to the right and proceed direct to his mother's suit when he heard a voice near the library door. It was Mr. Bagley giving instructions to the butler.

The Hon. Fitzroy Bagley, a younger son of a British peer, had left his country for his country's good, and in order to turn an honest penny, which he had never succeeded in doing at home, he had entered the service of America's foremost financier, hoping to gather a few of the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table and disguising the mental nature of his position under the high-sounding title of private secretary. His job called for a spy and a toady, and he filled these requirements admirably. Excepting with his employer, of whom he stood in craven fear, his manner was condescendingly patronizing to all with whom he came in contact, as if he were anxious to impress on these American plebeians the signal honor which a Fitzroy, son of a British peer, did them in deigning to remain in their "blasted" country. In Mr. Ryder's absence, therefore, he ran the house to suit himself, bullying the servants and not infrequently issuing orders that were contradictory to those already given by Mrs. Ryder.

Jefferson could not bear the sight of him. In fact, it was this man's continual presence in the house that had driven him to seek refuge elsewhere. He believed him to be a scoundrel as he certainly was a cad. Nor was his estimate of the English secretary far wrong. The man-like his master, was a grafter, and the particular graft he was after now was either to make a marriage with a rich American girl or to so compromise her that the same end would be attained. He was sure enough to realize that he had little chance to get what he wanted in the open matrimonial market, so he determined to attempt a raid and carry off an heiress under her father's nose, and the particular heiress he had selected was that of his employer's friend, Senator Roberts. The senator and Miss Roberts were frequently at the Ryder house, and in course of time the aristocratic secretary and the daughter had become quite intimate. A flighty girl, with no other purpose in life beyond dress and amusement and having what she termed "a good time," Kate thought it excellent pastime to flirt with Mr. Bagley, and when she discovered that he was serious in his attentions she felt flattered rather than indignant. After all, she argued, he was of noble birth. If his two brothers died, he would be peer of England, and she had enough money for both. He might not make a bad husband. But she was careful to keep her own counsel and not let her father have any suspicion of what was going on. She knew that his heart was set on her marrying Jefferson Ryder, and she knew better than any one how impossible that dream was. She herself liked Jefferson quite enough to marry him, but if his eyes were turned in another direction—and she knew all about his intentions to Miss Rossmore—she was not going to break her heart about it. So she continued to flirt secretly with the Hon. Fitzroy while she still led the Ryders and her own father to think that she was interested in Jefferson.

"Jorkins," Mr. Bagley was saying to the butler, "Mr. Ryder will occupy the library on his return. See that he is not disturbed."

"Very good, sir." The butler bowed and went downstairs. The secretary looked up and saw Jefferson. His face reddened, and his manner grew nervous.

"Hello! Back from Europe, Jefferson?"

"Hello! Back from Europe, Jefferson?"

"Hello! Back from Europe, Jefferson?"

"Hello! Back from Europe, Jefferson?"

delighted. "See's in her room upstairs." Declining to take the hint and gathering from Bagley's embarrassed manner that he wanted to get rid of him Jefferson lingered purposely. When the butler had disappeared, he said: "This house is getting more and more like a barracks every day. You've got men all over the place. One can't move a step without falling over one." Mr. Bagley drew himself up stiffly, as he always did when assuming an air of authority.

"Your father's personality demands the utmost precaution," he replied. "We cannot leave the life of the richest and most powerful financier in the world at the mercy of the rabble."

"What rabble?" inquired Jefferson, amused.

"The common rabble, the lower class, the riff-raff," explained Mr. Bagley.

"Pshaw!" laughed Jefferson. "If our financiers were only half as respectable as the common rabble, as you call them, they would need no bars to their houses."

Mr. Bagley sneered and shrugged his shoulders.

"Your father has warned me against your socialistic views." Then, with a lofty air, he added: "For four years I was third groom of the bedchamber to the second son of England's queen. I know my responsibilities."

"But you are not groom of the bedchamber here," retorted Jefferson.

"Whatever I am," said Mr. Bagley laughingly, "I am answerable to your father alone."

"By the way, Bagley," asked Jefferson, "when do you expect father to return? I want to see him."

"I'm afraid it's quite impossible," answered the secretary with studied insolence. "He has three important people to see before dinner. There's the national Republican committee and Sergeant Ellison of the secret service from Washington, all here by appointment. It's quite impossible."

"I didn't ask you if it was possible. I said I wanted to see him, and I will see him," answered Jefferson quietly but firmly and in a tone and manner which did not admit of further opposition. "I'll go and leave word for him on his desk," he added.

He started to enter the library when the secretary, who was visibly perturbed, attempted to bar his way.

"There's some one in there," he said in an undertone. "Someone waiting for your father."

"Is there?" replied Jefferson coolly. "I'll see who it is," with which he brushed past Mr. Bagley and entered the library.

He had guessed right. A woman was there. It was Kate Roberts.

"Hello, Kate! How are you?" Jefferson decided to say nothing of the interrupted tete-a-tete, but mentally he resolved to spoil Mr. Bagley's game and save Kate from her own folly. On hearing his voice Kate turned and gave a little cry of genuine surprise.

"Why, is it you, Jeff? I thought you were in Europe."

"I returned yesterday," he replied somewhat curtly. He crossed over to his father's desk, where he sat down to scribble a few words, while Mr. Bagley, who had followed him in, scowling, was making frantic dumb signs to Kate.

"I fear I intrude here," said Jefferson pointedly.

"Oh, dear no, not at all," replied Kate in some confusion. "I was waiting for my father. How is Paris?" she asked.

"Lovely as ever," he answered.

"Did you have a good time?" she inquired.

"I enjoyed it immensely. I never had a better one."

"You probably were in good company," she said significantly. Then she added: "I believe Miss Rossmore was in Paris?"

"Yes, I think she was there," was his noncommittal answer.

To change the conversation, which was becoming decidedly personal, he picked up a book that was lying on his father's desk and glanced at the title. It was "The American Octopus."

"If you'll excuse me, I'll go and pay my filial respects upstairs," said Jefferson. "I'll see you again." He gave Kate a friendly nod, and without even glancing at Mr. Bagley left the room.

The couple stood in silence for a few moments after he disappeared. Then Kate went to the door and listened to

"I fear I intrude here."

"Well, it was to a certain extent," replied the secretary unabashed. "Didn't you ask me to see you here?"

"Yes," said Kate, taking a letter from her bosom; "I wanted to ask you what this means?"

"My dear Miss Roberts—Kate—I—stammered the secretary.

KOREAN EMPEROR YIELDS FORCED BY JAPAN, HE DECIDES TO ABDICATE THE THRONE.

Ceremony Set For Friday Morning—Decision Follows Long Conference With Elder Statesmen.

Tokio, July 19.—A dispatch from Seoul says that the emperor convened the elder statesmen at one o'clock Friday morning. The cabinet ministers waited in an adjoining room while the emperor conferred with the elder statesmen.

After a two hours' conference his majesty finally yielded and made up his mind to abdicate.

It was decided to hold abdication ceremony at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Much unrest prevails about the palace and at another place a crowd of 2,000 is assembled. A portion of this mob assaulted the office of the Daily Kokumin, but the mob was dispersed before much damage was inflicted.

The audience of Marquis Ito with the emperor of Korea Thursday lasted one hour. It is reported that the emperor appealed imploringly to Ito to help save Korea from her present complication in a manner satisfactory to the Japanese and without doing anything derogatory to the Korean court. Marquis Ito, it is said, carefully avoided making any definite reply and retired without committing himself.

FOUR GUILTY; NOT TO HANG. Verdict in Lamana Case Causes Threats of Lynching.

Hahnville, La., July 19.—The jury in the Lamana kidnapping and murder trial brought in a verdict Thursday evening finding Campisciano, Mrs. Campisciano, Tony Costa and Frank Gendusa guilty, without capital punishment.

Absolute silence greeted the foreman's announcement. The spectators listened quietly while the jury declared that the verdict was unanimous and then court adjourned. An hour afterward, it was reported that preparations for a lynching were under way. A physician of local prominence gave out a statement declaring, "that the good people of St. Charles repudiate the verdict," and calling it a "prostitution of justice."

The prisoners were returned to the St. Charles parish jail, an isolated structure standing in the fields a quarter of a mile away from any habitation except the sheriff's house, and the courthouse. It was deemed unwise to take the prisoners back to New Orleans by train Thursday night, since the railroad would have to take them through a somewhat wild country on the west bank of the river and outside the city. The sheriff has repeatedly declared that he can prevent lynching of the Italians in his parish and he is looked upon as capable of defending the men in almost any emergency.

New Orleans, July 19.—A posse is forming at Gretna, across the river from New Orleans, with the avowed purpose of making an attempt to reach Hahnville. There is little prospect that this posse can get to Hahnville by train and attempts have been made to secure a tug or towboat.

Eighty-two state soldiers reached the Hahnville jail late Thursday night, after passing through a mob of several hundred persons in Gretna, who tried to induce the train crew to sidetrack the militia special.

GIVES EXPLANATION OF TELEGRAM TO FRAU MOLITOR.

Called Weak by Judge.

Frankfort Barber Tells of Selling Prisoner False Beard on the Day of the Murder of His Mother-in-Law.

Karlsruhe, July 19.—Considerable progress was made Thursday at the trial of Karl Hau, the former professor in George Washington university who is charged with the murder of his wife's mother, Frau Molitor, at Baden Baden. Hau, who was closely interrogated by the presiding judge, finally yielded to persuasion and consented to answer some of the questions on which Wednesday he kept silence.

He admitted sending a dispatch from Paris calling Frau Molitor to that city, but he made the admission, he said, in order to expedite the case and to do away with the necessity of having handwriting experts take the stand.

Makes Weak Explanation. Later he told the court that he sent this dispatch following a dispute with his wife because of his alleged relations with her sister, Olga, in order to arrange for the departure of Olga, but the presiding judge declared that this was a weak explanation and not in accordance with circumstances previously related.

A barber, of Frankfort, testified to making a false beard for Hau and further that Hau put the beard on in his shop on November 6, the day of the murder, about noon, and started with his baggage for the railway station.

"Bearded Man" Described. A woman, who conducted a confectionery shop in Baden Baden, described as far as she was able, the appearance of a man wearing a heavy beard, whom she saw acting in a distracted manner in front of the Molitor villa in that city between the hours of three and four o'clock. The description in a measure answered that given by Olga Molitor Wednesday of the man who shot her mother in the park on the evening of the same day. This witness said that when she heard of the tragedy she declared the murderer could be none other than the man whom she had seen loitering in front of the Molitor house.

Fellow students of Hau at Freiburg university gave evidence as to the prisoner's immoral conduct.

read one of our advertisements several weeks ago. A few days ago he called at our office. Said he couldn't understand how we could do business the way we advertised—put up Lightning Rods, giving the purchaser six months or a year's time, without a contract of any sort, and guarantee to refund the entire cost of any building, rodged by us, was ever struck by lightning.

We explained to him—as we have to YOU in our advertisement—just WHY no building equipped with our Copper Cable Lightning Rod CAN be struck by lightning. SHOWED him why by producing artificial lightning and reproducing exactly the conditions that exist during a thunderstorm.

Then he watched the rod as it is made, saw how the 31 strands of pure copper wire are coiled and twisted together. When he left he said he hadn't learned so much that was interesting and useful in many years.

We'll be very glad to show YOU all these things too. And we assure you that you'll find both pleasure and profit in a call.
